

On a limiting resonance distribution theorem for the Stark effect in the semiclassical limit

Carlos Villegas, Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico

Abstract:

We study the distribution of resonances nearby the eigenvalues of the hydrogen atom hamiltonian under the influence of a constant electric field with a suitable intensity in the semiclassical limit. We show that such a limit involves averages of the position coordinate in the direction of the electric field along the classical orbits of the Kepler problem.